In 1887, four Chicago anarchists were executed; a fifth cheated the hangman by killing himself in prison. Three more were to spend 6 years in prison. May Day became an international workers day to remember their sacrifice.

They were framed on false charges. In the months prior to this date, workers in the thousands were drawn into the struggle for the shorter day. Skilled and unskilled, black and white, men and women, native and immigrant were all becoming involved.

Today May Day celebrates so much more, we mark the 10th Anniversary of the 2006 Gran Paro/Great Boycott for immigrant and worker rights. We support ongoing struggles of farmworkers, food and service workers, teachers and students.

We stand with our fellow workers here and across the globe in solidarity to uplift the working class and to live in harmony with the Earth.
